Providing much-needed, affordable rental housing in Richmond

The City of Richmond, BC Housing and Turning Point Housing Society are proposing to build new affordable rental housing at 4831 Steveston Highway. This project will help to address a critical lack of affordable housing for people and families in Richmond.

The proposal includes:

- 25 new homes in a three-storey building
- A mix of 10 two-bedroom homes and 15 studio homes
- Amenity space, including a children's play area

A Rezoning Application has been submitted to redevelop a City-owned site at 4831 Steveston Highway. As part of the Rezoning Application process, the City, BC Housing, and Turning Point Housing Society are engaging with neighbours of the site to present the proposed project and receive feedback.

Visit LetsTalkRichmond.ca/AffordableHsg2023 to learn more and participate in the Virtual Open House from May 30 to June 11, 2023. During the Virtual Open House you can view details of the application and provide your comments to the project team.

Feedback collected during this process will help inform City Council's review of the project.

This is a proposed project that has not yet been approved by the City of Richmond.

Neighbours will also receive an early notification postcard from the City of Richmond, and have other opportunities to provide input over the coming months, as part of the City's required regulatory process.
