Community Wayfinding Strategy

Brighouse to Bridgeport, City Centre to Steveston, or wherever you need to go!

What is wayfinding?

Wayfinding connects people to their surroundings and helps them find their way—for example, through directional signage and visual landmarks. Wayfinding can also be used to promote public attractions, places of special interest, and the best routes for moving through the city. Improved wayfinding will enhance the City of Richmond as a destination and as a community.

About the new Community Wayfinding Strategy

The City of Richmond is seeking your input on a new Community Wayfinding Strategy. The Strategy seeks to improve people's experience of moving through and navigating the city on all types of transportation. Your priorities and concerns will help shape the direction of the Strategy, for example, by identifying areas around the city that can benefit from improved signage.

The Strategy will include recommendations for implementation, such as new signs, digital wayfinding systems, and potential pilot projects.

Anticipated completion: Spring 2024

The Community Wayfinding Strategy aligns with Richmond's Official Community Plan to be "a place where people live, work, and prosper in a connected and vibrant community."
